Forecast for Sunday 27 Feb 2022

Weather: A dry night then day with largely clear skies leading to prolonged periods of sunshine through the morning. These wane to brighter spells as higher cloud spreads from the southwest during the afternoon, which slowly thickens and lowers through the evening, to bring some patchy light rain towards midnight, chiefly confined across western ranges.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: Near 100% becoming 95% late afternoon.

Low cloud and visibility: Good or very good by day, becoming moderate or poor in later rain and very poor in associated cloud.
